

Absences By Students Plus A Lack Of Parental Contact Is Dangerous

Editor's note: In the conclusion of Mr. Littlefield's article, we learn that parents can easily keep tabs on their children at school by visiting and talking with teachers.

Our school has policies and regulations which direct and largely control activities and work of administration, faculty, and pupils. Parents, pupils, and families of parents should become familiar with these policies and regulations, to the end that all parties concerned—administrators, teachers, students, parents, and other interested parties—might cooperate more completely that the school might be as effective as possible in achieving its purpose in the community.

Sometimes excuses come from parents stating that their child was sick as a result he was not present for a certain period of time, when actually that child was seen in another town. Or the parent may not even know of the excuse, but the child wrote his own excuse and signed the parent's name to it. We as parents and older people have an obligation to meet in setting examples of honesty, the least effort and will get results and, fair play for our pupils and children to follow.

OUR RESPONSIBILITY

This responsibility devolves upon us as parents to be engaged in this business of school.

During the school years of a child, his prime purpose is to absorb all new knowledge that is capable of transmission. Therefore, it is the task of parents to encourage and, in some instances, demand and see to it that their child or children are in school and on time every day, excepted only by sickness or other causes that are beyond their control.

It is also a parental obligation to see that the child has a reasonable night's rest and a good breakfast to start the day's work well fortified physically.

Then, too, another parental duty in cooperation with the school, its teachers, advisors, and counselors, is to see that the child has a good educational preparation, not the most difficult to him in adult life.

And yet, many parents pull themselves into complacency by the time the child has met the needs of the school system, which seemed almost natural or instinctive to him. He suddenly wakes up and finds himself at a loss to explain it up.

The reasons may also be numerous—the reasons may also be the subject matter having become so simple and routine to him that he forgets about the difficulty even though he may have had in mastering new material, trying to cover up much failure in too short a time, failing to take time to classify problems, and, in school, familarizing each other, and carless use of critical and sarcastic remarks to concerning a pupil in his work.

Neither pupils nor parents of pupils realize that those absences, when figured in the average daily attendance for the year, may reduce the instructional time available for the school for the ensuing year, thus causing hardships for that year's pupils and headaches for the parents.

VISITATION PERIODS

In recognition of the above stated conditions and circumstances, Parent Visitation is now being instituted in Palm Beach County. The purpose of this is to promote a closer cooperation between teacher and pupil, school and parents, to acquaint parents with school conditions and facilities, for the school instructional staff to become better acquainted with parents, to find out what is unusual about pupils' home life, backgrounds, avocations, interests, personal attitudes, likes, dislikes, complexes, etc.

Christmas Meditation

Read Luke 2:6-14

Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men. (Luke 2:14)

On Christmas morning little Benny went to the kitchen where his mother was. He looked around and then asked, "What's the birthday cake?"

"What birthday cake?" his mother asked.

"This is Jesus' birthday cake!"

Benny felt such a significance about Christmas, his mother would surely make a cake. Not having any candles, she put one large white candle in the center of the cake.

Later, as Benny thoughtfully watched the flicker of that large candle, he said, "Jesus, candle burns longer than all the rest."

All too often and in too many homes the real meaning of this day is lost in the rush, preparation, and commercialization of the season. Should not Christ have our reverence, praise and adoration? Should not He be put first in our lives when considering His birth?

PRAYER. Our Father, we thank Thee for the coming of Thy Son into the world. We thank Thee for the good news the angel host proclaimed when He was born. May that song echo in our own hearts this day and throughout the year. In the spirit of the angels, Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

We honor Christ best by welcoming Him into our hearts.

Uncle Dan From Democrat River Says

Dear Mister Editor:
There's sumpin' about the this week. It's been a good year Christmas spirit that makes in a heap of ways, and while folks forget their burdens and I'm always complaining about troubles. For instance up at the church that don't suit me, most country here. Starting out of town, we'll go to see all the fellas was in a good a warm place to sleep, warm mood, telling funny stories in clothes to wear, and we should put aside disagreeable things and be happy and jolly at least.

One fellar said he'd got so lazy since he got addited to them allotment checks that it was a real chore for him any more. He would sit in his old lady to see how to chop wood. And another fellar was telling about stopping work on the house he was building for his wife. He allowed as how there ain't nothing in the world that hates rain like a goat, and he said he just couldn't stand to see them rain kins and friends. I hope those in the same year will be in such shape next year that I won't have to complain quite as much as in the past year. I ain't making that as a fact, Mister Editor, just wishing it.

A very Merry Christmas to you, Mister Editor, and to all your readers. I hope you have a happy year. His wife and four kids is staying with his mother till he gets the goat house built and gets back to work on his own house.

And Ed Doolittle said his wife had him a necktie for Christmas but that she forgot to remember he didn't have no shirt to go with it. Uncle Dan spoke up and allowed as how, since Ed stayed in the doghouse so much, it would be more fitting for the old lady bought him a dog collar.

Some time was spent on discussing the difference between farming and agriculture. It was decided that the farming is done by farmers and agriculture is mostly a literary proposition carried on by government employees.

And Uncle Dan had a kind of good natured talk that was going on. I reckon they ain't no happier folks in the world than a bunch of rural fellas when they get around and warm fire about Christmas time.

And now S & H store in Florida makes it watchful for stamp savers to redeem their stamps for any of the 1,500 nationally advertised articles in the S & H line," Whitnick said. "Last year in Florida, with few exceptions," he added, "S & H redeemed stamps for merchandise with a total retail value of almost $4,000,000."

Jehovah's Witnesses Convening Here

J. W. FILSON, chapter director of Southeastern United States, left, and Frederick M. Dietz, supervisor of Florida Circuit No. 8, arrived here Monday to complete details of the week-end assembly.

Witness Assembly

Discussing the convention plan, "Expanding Our Ministry," Filson compared each Witness to a business or professional man who renders service to the people of the community. "It is the desire of a follower of God's Chief Witness, Christ Jesus," he said, "such service must be rendered free of charge. Freely given, freely received, freely it should give."

The purpose of this assembly, "Filson continued, "is to better equip Jehovah's Witnesses for their ministerial work they perform and give them a better understanding of the responsibilities and opportunities that are theirs."

Prefect M. Dietz revealed that the assembly program will include Bible lectures, discussions and instruction periods specifically designed to show the delegates how the preaching activity can be improved.

"Friday evening will hold a typical ministry school, held at the First Baptist Church," he said.

"Contests will be held Saturday morning and the winners will be a sign unto you."

During the day, the assembly will be the public address Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m., when Mr. Filson, conference chairman, will discuss "The Watch Tower Society in God's Purpose."

The conference will conclude Sunday evening at 6 p.m. All participants in the ministry school are invited to attend all of the convention sessions. No collections are taken.

In fact, Gold Bond Twinsulation, installed in your attic not only keeps your rooms warmer in winter, it also keeps them cooler in summer.

The fire-side cool, an excellent insulation just, together with the full/blanket reflective blanket surface provide a double heat against the passage of heat either way. Wherever the blanket faces a minimum 5% air space, its surface reflects radiant heat.

For ages now, Twinsulation keeps heat where you want it all year round. It's insulation inside in winter. Makes your home more comfortable pays for itself in permanently lower heating — and cooling — bills. Simple as that!

THE CHRISTMAS STORY

Luke 2:1-16

By Rev. Edward Stramer

And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed.

(And this taxing was first made, when Cyrenius was governor of Syria.) And all went to be taxed, every man into his own city.

Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judea, unto the city of Bethlehem, which is called Bethlehem; because it was there of the house and lineage of David, to be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child.

And so it was, that, while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered. And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them to lodge in the city. And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.

And lo, the angel of the Lord upon them shone as the sun; and the glory of the Lord shone round about them; and they were sore afraid. And the angel said unto them, "Fear not: for I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord: and that ye may know him, he is wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger."

Having said this, the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God, and they told what things had been told them concerning this Child.

And when they had heard of the birth of Jesus Christ, they came with gifts, gold and frankincense, and myrrh, to worship him.

A Christmas Tree Tale From The White House

Teddy Roosevelt almost rode roughshod over the Christmas tree in his drive to conserve the nation's forests. But two little boys put the Christmas spirit — and tree — back in the White House.

The Christmas tree was well-established in the United States when TR became president. Research experts with "The World Book Encyclopedia say Charles Follen set up one of the first known trees in America in 1832."

President Franklin Pierce put up a tree in the White House in the 1850's to entertain the Sunday School of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church. And President Benjamin Harrison continued the custom in the 1890's.

But some modern-day Scrooges convinced Roosevelt that the cutting of Christmas trees would deplete the nation's forests.

TR promptly banned the tradition at the White House. However, the Roughriders forgot to consult his young sons, Archie and Quentin, cared little about presidential edicts — and less about conservation. They smuggled a tree into their mansion on Pennsylvania Avenue, and set it up in Archie's room.

The president exploded, and ever since, the White House has had an indoor Christmas tree. TR's concession also sent the Christmas tree industry soaring beyond the dreams of oilmen, loggers, and Custer, farmer who brought his trees to market in New York City in 1851. And it helped pave the way for a new custom in the community.

In 1924, a Norway spruce was planted near the White House and later dedicated as "a national living Christmas tree." Two years later, a giant California redwood in King's Canyon National Park, named in Grant after the Civil War hero, was dedicated as the "Nation's Xmas Tree." It reaches 267 ft. into the sky and 40 ft. thick, the second largest in the world.

May the spirit of Christmas be with you always.

Short Cut To The Varsity Set's Heart

A short cut to Christmas shopping, too! Whether Mother or Dad underwrites the gift, or it comes from the child himself, this handsome Christmas Red gift bag is a hit. It's lined with Old Spice fragrance-matched hair dressing for crew cuts, and spray-on perfume which gets the approval of the varsity set or the junior executive.

Making Your Own Holiday Decorations Adds To Pleasure

Make your own holiday decorations and you not only save money, you have fun.

A kloset ring for a doorway can be made by covering two embroidery hoops with ribbed ribbon. Place them at right angles to each other and add a bell, ball ornament or sprig of mistletoe inside. Attach a wire coat hanger to the hoop. Instead of embroidery hoops, you may use can rings painted with gold tempera paint.

Evergreen branches can be used in many ways. Have you ever tried covering the wreath moulding about a door with them? Or building a wire coat hanger into a circle and attaching greens to it to form a wreath? You can add ball ornaments or tiny cranberries to brighten it a bit.

Then how about decorating your windows? Cut out paper snowflakes and white spray paint or white paper snowflakes always look pretty. But if there's an artist in your family, why not let him paint a picture of a jolly Santa on a window or mirror with tempera paints?

GUESS WHO ... Everybody is impersonating Santa Claus. Here Miss Estates gives her impersonation of Mrs. Santa Claus—and while it may not resemble the real-life facsimile, the gift-laden pack on Hilda's back may give a wacky clue.

Bethlehem: Many Languages Join Together In Holy Praise

As the angels sang on that first Christmas night, so will there be singing in the village of Bethlehem in this year of 1958.

Bethlehem caroling is in many languages. An Arab choir will join with the voices of tourists and pilgrims in the streets of the ancient city. In a grove which might have been the sheepfold for the watching shepherds on the Christmas story will be read down from the Gospel of St. Luke.

The stone buildings and churches of Bethlehem are filled with thousands of pilgrims who have journeyed here for a pontifical mass at St. Catherine's Chapel and the procession which later leads down a flight of stone steps to the grotto beneath the Church of the Nativity.

According to the ceremony, nearly 2,000 years old, the grotto is the site of the stable where Jesus was born. The stable where Mary could find no room at the inn.

During the ceremony, an infant figure of Christ is placed first on a stone slab and then on a mass of a wooden crib where it will remain until the feast of Epiphany.

On the side of the Israel-Jordan border, a short distance from Bethlehem, tent cities are set up to facilitate border crossings for mainlanders and 2,000 Christians living in Israel and temporary Christian residents of Israel traveling to the Holy Land for Masses. The formalities do not take much time. In one tent, pilgrims get stamp for their permit, an armband, their luggage checked, finally their money is changed.

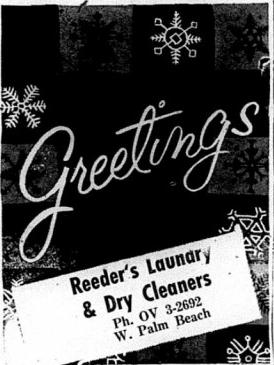

Then they cross the border, not far from the stable where Mary and Joseph on a similar night long ago, and just as fervent travelers from all parts of the world in this year of 1958.

May your Christmas Ring with Laughter and Joy!

Paint Your Own Stained Glass Windows For Christmas

The newest window decorating idea for Christmas is a set of six traditional designs which can be hand painted to give a real stained glass effect.

The pieces are clear, luminous plastic, sized to fit the average window. The panels are grouped together on large modern windows. No glue or tape is required; the plastic adheres to glass by friction.

About Santa Claus ... Indiana

A post office at Santa Claus, Indiana, which has helped make Christmas a living reality for millions of youngsters since it was established, has had a contest. This year, a contest is being held to encourage children all over the nation to send letters to Santa Claus.

Postmaster W. S. Reinke reports, in fact, several thousand letters are already on hand from children all over the country to Santa Claus. He expects 50,000 letters this year. Each will be answered by the American Legion in Santa Claus.

The gaily decorated letters from Santa Claus to the children are sent to the Legion with them that Santa's Brownies are already hard at work making plenty of toys and that he will visit them on Christmas Day.

This letter also admonishes them to be good children and say their prayers regularly.

Mr. Reinke, head of the Santa Claus post office since 1947, says that the story of how Santa Claus was named goes back more than 100 years. At a meeting held before the Post Office was established there in 1856, according to the story, someone wearing Santa Claus clothes came in. Apparently it was a young Chinese boy who had come along with his parents. They cried, "Santa Claus," and the adults thought that would be a good name for their town.

In the years following the establishment of the Post Office at Santa Claus in May, 1856 it has helped in carrying on the great traditions of Christmas.

Besides the children's mail, many persons have written Christmas cards mailed from Santa Claus. In December, Reinke anticipates a Christmas mail volume of more than 3,000,000 pieces this year.

He, too, repeats the Post Office Department's urgent call to citizens "Shop and Mail Early" this year.

Our jolly old Santa is taking his cue,
By helping us say, "Merry Christmas to you!"

EVE OF CHRISTMAS

It was the eve of Christmas—
And two men and a child, Standing still on the edge of the earth,
Gazed up at the darkened sky,
And their eyes were filled with wonder.

The child, being of tender years and innocence,
Gazed up at the star—
Said he to self:
A gleaming silver sleigh,
drawn by eight prancing
reindeer.
And driven by a figure of enormous size, bundled in red,
With a laugh and a white beard
that streamed in the wind.

And the sleigh was filled
With host of toys and gifts,
And, as it sped across
the sky,
Dipping and gliding,
The toys and the gifts spilled
From the sleds
And tumbled down
toward the earth.

And the child's eyes
gleamed and laughed.
As the silver sleigh and the reindeer rounded the bend
in the clouds,
And the toys and the gifts
kept tumbling down—
One here, one yonder—toward all the children of the earth.

And the first man,
who was young,
Gazed up at the sky,
searching, expectant,
and his eyes stopped on a bright star shining there.
And, as he watched,
the star grew brighter—
Or so it seemed—and its beams multiplied and spread until all the sky was filled
With its radiance.

And the eyes of the young man
glowed in his beams
And his face was wreathed
in its beams.
As the star shed
its light of hope
Upon all the peoples of the world.

And the other man, who was
old, gazed up at the sky,
With eyes full of faith
and the wisdom of his years.
And in the sky he saw could it be?—an angel.

And then a multitude of angels
Until it seemed they filled all the sights the child and the two men saw—

Or thought they saw—
In the sky on Christmas Eve
Were the sights
that have been,
That have been seen
By all people of faith
and of wondering spirit,
Of all ages and times,
in all the places of the earth.
